1. WHO AM I?
 - a) What do I do?
 - b) What do I love?
2. WHY AM I HERE?

My CCP diploma was taken through B-Learning
3. MY CONTRIBUTION TO THE CONFERENCE
 - a) As “eye witness” of what are the needs of a B-Learning trainee
 - b) What is required to be successful
 - c) Essential points

Essential points:

- I. Not much availability of time to be present at the classroom
- II. Being physically far from the place where the training is given
- III. The trainee must be highly motivated to achieve training objectives and be very proactive

- VI. The student must enter daily in the computer platform, check for updates, get to know her/his tasks and plan them in time
- VII. Things that must be done daily include:
 - i. reading the manuals
 - ii. knowing the tasks that are requested
 - iii. knowing the dead-lines required
 - iv. its required proactivity to work in a group
 - v. in case of doubts immediately contact the monitor
 - vi. knowing e work plan for that module or part of the course

- IX. Also very important, even essential, the support and feedback given by the monitor throughout the course; monitoring the questions raised and the work the student is developing
- X. The monitor support is precious, essential, should be constant and permanent, a crucial factor in B -Learning training

My conclusions:

I believe that teaching via B-Learning is very useful, and can be practical, effective, efficient, of good quality, provided that the subjects taught can adapt to this kind of teaching
